How to enter

Welcome to the Google Science Fair.
Let's start with some important information.

1.

First things first, sign up at googlesciencefair.com. You can register alone, or in groups of 2 or 3.
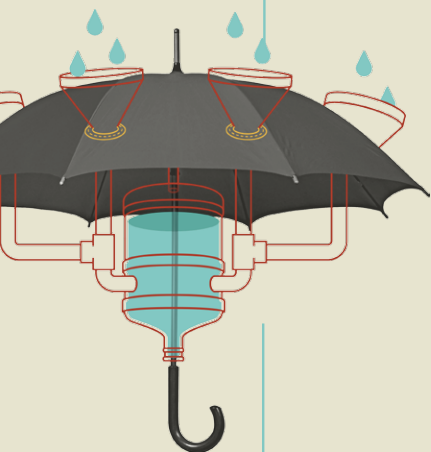

2.

Next, use the project site builder to tell us about your experiment or engineering project. Remember, all entries must be submitted by May 17, 2016.
3.

Here are some helpful hints to give your idea the best chance of winning:

- Everyone should carefully read the Science Fair official rules found on the website.

- Safety is important. Do not use any dangerous chemicals, or ever harm any animals.

- You must have a parent's permission to enter.

- Remember, you are not permitted to use any brands, logos or music, unless you yourself created it.

4.

Finally, when you submit, set all your project materials to public so that the judges can view them. Remember, the deadline is May 17, 2016, so now it's time to get to work.

Everything's better with science.
